Dear Chairman Cochran, Ranking Member Leahy, Chairman Frelinghuysen and Ranking Member Lowey:

On behalf of the Mental Health Liaison Group, the undersigned organizations are writing today to urge your support for important mental health and addiction prevention and treatment priorities in the upcoming FY2018 omnibus spending package. The Mental Health Liaison Group is a coalition of national organizations representing mental health and substance use consumers, providers, family members, and other concerned citizens. Together, on behalf of the millions of Americans living with mental health and substance use disorders, their families and communities, we advocate for public policies and funding to improve access to high-quality care.

As you continue your work to finalize a FY2018 budget, we ask that you remember that investing in mental health and substance use prevention and treatment saves lives and money. Far too many Americans living with a mental health or substance use disorder are unable to access needed treatment. Each day, an average of 174 Americans die from an opioid overdose. Each year, nearly 45,000 Americans die by suicide. Without access to appropriate treatment, people with mental illnesses and addiction are more likely to experience crises that lead them to utilize costly emergency room services: nearly 12 million visits made to U.S. hospital emergency departments involve people with a mental illness, substance use disorder, or both.<sup>i</sup> Of the more than 23 million Americans with a drug or alcohol use disorder, only 2.5 million received treatment for their condition in 2013 – that’s a mere 11 percent.<sup>ii</sup>

We appreciate Congress coming together last month on a budget agreement to include funding to address these issues. The budget deal – and subsequent addition of $6 billion in spending for opioid addiction and mental health treatment – reflects that. It is the hope of the undersigned that this agreement will allow for increases to the life-saving government programs currently authorized and/or funded by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. By continuing to invest in and expand our nation’s mental health and addiction prevention, treatment and recovery programs, Congress can help create healthier communities to ensure that all Americans can access the treatment they need, when they need it.

Thank you for your continued leadership and dedication to the mental health and addictions treatment community. As you consider how best to appropriate federal funding for the remainder of Fiscal Year 2018, please rely on the Mental Health Liaison Group as a resource for you and your staff.
